FLOWER DRAMA NEXT

Musical Skit Written by Rev. C. J. Harris to Be Presented by Good Company Thursday Night.

Great progress is being made with the musical drama, "Flora and Flowerland," written by Rev. C. J. Harris and to be presented by him Thursday evening of this week at 8 o'clock at the Musical Art Institute.

The unique feature of the drama is the awakening of flowerland to express in form the Greek sentiment of Beauty. Huge flowers, many of them three feet in diameter, will form a garden of living flowers, each of which will do honors in song, dances and recitations to Flora, Proserpine and Hyacinthus.

The first act leads up to the tragedy in the death of Hyacinthus, the result of the plot of Eris and Medusa, in which the asp is the agent of revenge. Medusa, whose hair and crown are serpents, is encircled with a monster snake, while her reformation is brought about by the death of the innocent child by her pet asp. The abduction of Proserpine follows the tragedy, while all the flowers fade and spring turns into darkness and the year is flowerless and songless.

The second act brings about the return of the flowers, the overcoming of despair and revenge and the observance again of the festival of spring. The play will commence promptly at 8 o'clock.

TELL MEN IN OVERALLS THEY HELP TO SAVE ENGLAND

New Castle, Eng., Dec. 15.—"The men in overalls, just as much as those who go forth to fight for their country in khaki or blue, stand between this land and a group of savage, relentless and ruthless militarists," said the Right Honorable Thomas James McNamara, financial secretary of the admiralty in addressing the first of a series of meetings at which he had been delegated to express the thanks of the admiralty to the shipyard and engineering works employees engaged on government contracts.

TWO DAIRYMEN ARE TO APPEAL

Produced Witnesses in Court to Testify That Their Places Are Clean.

WERE INSPECTED BY WOMEN

"Maybe my cow lot wasn't as clean as a society lady's parlor, and it may be true that their lapdogs and poolies would not like to make their home in my milk house, but my dairy is as clean as anyone can keep it," said W. S. Tinsley, a dairyman, in answer to a charge of selling unsanitary milk and keeping unhealthy premises. Tinsley answered the charge in a special session of police court this morning, which was postponed from a special session held last week.

In the first trial held, several society women, members of the state senate sanitary survey committee, testified against Tinsley as a result of a visit paid to the dairy with City Dairy Inspector A. A. Doughty on November 24. Mrs. Conlter Todd, Mrs. F. A. Garrison and Mrs. S. Ditzell were among the prosecuting witnesses.

Doctor Found It Clean.

Dr. William Higgins, family physician of the Tinsley family, and a medical practitioner since 1883, testified as to the condition of the dairy and stated that his investigations, purely through curiosity, showed the dairy to be in the best of shape. He was at the place several days before the women made their visit, he said. Professor Locke has been a practicing chemist for the past ten years.

Other witnesses, employees of Tinsley, carpenters at work on the farm at the time of visit, and friends, testified in favor of the dairyman. In the testimony given by the women several days ago the charge was made that hogs were running loose about the milk house and were wallowing in unsanitary places and spreading disease. This charge was answered by Tinsley. He said he had taken a load of hogs to Packerdown the day of the visit of inspection and the few loose about the place had run out when he was loading. The workmen at the dairy farm simply had not had time to get them back, he said.

Small Fines For Both.

The conditions directly after milking are always bad, stated the employees, as there is bound to be some mud and spilling of milk and water, and they had just finished and were beginning to clean up when the party arrived.

When he stated that he would be willing to appeal the case, Judge Price fined Tinsley $10 and costs and the dairyman gave notice of appeal. The attorney for Tinsley stated at the first of the trial that the city court had no jurisdiction in the case because of the location of the farm.

A case against T. J. Wallace was settled by a fine of $10 and costs and will be carried to the county court, according to the dairyman. Wallace claims he told the city inspector that at any time he would immediately adopt any suggestions toward better sanitary conditions, but that Doughty made no suggestions of this nature to him.

"He made several visits to my place before coming with the women," said Wallace, "but never once did he have a suggestion to make. If the women are to inspect the dairies, why do we taxpayers have to pay Doughty's salary?" he added.

Both Tinsley and Wallace held requests made out by Doughty that showed their milk to have a high rating and they affirm that such milk cannot be produced in unsanitary places.

The Oklahoma county dairymen are beginning to believe that they must get together to fight their cases and several of them have given notice of appeal to the county court.

QUORUM NOT PRESENT

Investigation of Course of Study May Not Be Made by Entire Board as a Committee of the Whole.

Only four members of the city board of education were present last night at the meeting that was to have taken up the investigation of the course of study in the Oklahoma City High School. Four members were absent, and it is said that they do not intend to be present at any of the meetings.

The investigation was called as a result of the action taken by some members of the Patrons' clubs. Some time ago when a movement was started to revise the course of study in the grade schools the members of the Patrons' clubs backed off made every effort to stop it. Later they experienced a change and went after Superintendent Buchanan with a vengeance.

The resignation of Miss Caperton from one of the grade schools will be made a part of the investigation. She is said to have resigned because she did not consider that Miss Kirkham was competent to supervise her work. This is expected to reflect on Superintendent Buchanan, according to those making the charges, as Miss Kirkham was recommended by him.

Those who have looked into the matter have reason to believe that a big row is brewing in the board of education and that it is being egged on by members of the Patrons' clubs.

AUDIENCE LIKED PLAY

Children Presented "Cinderella" at Overholser Last Night to Large and Pleased Audience.

For the benefit of the Oklahoma Orphanage "Cinderella" was presented last night at the Overholser by the school children. About one hundred and fifty of the little ones took part. There was not a hitch throughout the entire presentation and between the acts were many clever specialties. The house was well filled and the audience was delighted with the entertainment.

The presentation of the play indicates that there is plenty of dramatic talent among the school children of the city.

Margaret Kendrick as Cinderella was a finished little actress and all the other distinguished themselves. The other presentation of the play reflects much credit upon the ability of Mrs. C. R. Kendrick, who drilled the children.

Directed in 6 to 14 Days.

MANY BUYING CROSS STAMPS

Dr. J. H. Mahr Receives Very Encouraging Reports From Over State—Sale Closes January 1.

The increasing sale and demand for Red Cross stamps, which creates the tuberculosis fighting fund, indicates the interest that is being taken in the movement to combat the white plague, and Dr. Mahr, state health commissioner, says that he is receiving encouraging reports from all over the state.

The movement for the prevention of the disease is one in which Dr. Mahr is vitally interested, for he is of the opinion that that is the worst form of disease with which any community now has to combat. Modern medical research has prepared a way by which this plague may be successfully overcome. The sale of Red Cross stamps helps provide the funds which may be applied in the campaign to arrest the disease.

The reason the Red Cross stamps are put on sale at Christmas time comes from the sentiment with practical aid. A penny spent for a stamp is helping some unlucky individual on the road to possible permanent recovery, and the "Lord loveth a cheerful giver."

As secretary of the state association for the prevention of tuberculosis, Dr. Mahr has charge of the sale of the stamps in the state. He is placing the stamps on sale at every point where he can find someone to attend to the matter.

He received a letter today from Mrs. L. M. Fellows of the Henryetta Free Lance, asking for a supply of the stamps. Others selling them are: Mrs. T. S. Marlock of Tulsa, through the City Federation of Women's Clubs; chamber of commerce of Muskogee and Miss Alice Robertson; Prof. W. H. Decker, superintendent of the city schools of Altus; Bronson & Nichols of the American, for El Reno; Miss Elizabeth Borie, president of the Women's Federation of clubs for Enid; Dr. Cloudman and pupils of the pub-
